- Remove 'wall acne'

With our Home Automation ECO system, you will...

- Feel more secure
- Be confident you have the latest features
- Feel assured you have future proofed your home

Let ECOsystems take away all the hassles and create a fantastic home environment for you and your family

ECOsystems are one of only two certified C-Bus integrators in New Zealand.

As systems integrators we typically integrate a whole range of practical and proven measures and systems, identifying all opportunities to make your home or office more energy efficient.

We have won seven National awards for our energy efficiency projects since 2000.

ECOsystems are corporate members of the Energy Management Association of New Zealand and the Green Building Council of New Zealand.

Your ECOsystems team is professional, friendly and responsive

C-Bus™ uses a dedicated cable (Category 5 UTP data cable) to carry data commands. The intelligence in the system is distributed along this cable.

It offers amazing flexibility and expandability as it can be adapted to suit both your lifestyle and the technologies of the future.
